

Library Newsletter

November 2005

I want to bring to your attention some news from the Architecture Library.

Information literacy program:

To help you to improve your library skills we offer group and individual sessions. Group sessions can be scheduled in advance and tailored to the needs of your class. Individual sessions can be requested in advance or offered on a walk-in basis. We welcome any opportunity to talk to you and will try to accommodate your requests ASAP!

Acquisitions: in addition to two digital copiers we received:

Audio/visual materials:

Three DVDs Architecture 1,2,3 (from the Reunion des musees nationaux), which include images and models of Le Familistère; The Postal Savings Bank in Vienna; The Bauhaus in Dessau; The School of Architecture by A. Siza; The Georges Pompidou Centre; Nemausus 1; The Villa Dall' Ava; The galleria Umberto 1; Satolas-TVG; The Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Paris; The Jewish Museum in Berlin; Garnier Opéra; Le couvent de la Tourette; La Casa Milá; The Chicago Auditorium Building; The Municipal Centre in Säynätsalo; and many more. (Architecture 4 is on order)

Books:

More than 200 items were donated by the Masonry Contractors of New Jersey. In addition to that over 600 titles have been catalogued and added to our collection. To view all of them, please visit our New Book Database at: <http://www.library.njit.edu/newbooks/>

E-Books: to browse electronic books at NJIT, please visit: <http://www.library.njit.edu/ebooks/> (You can always request a purchase of e-books by submitting an online request or by e-mail.)

Visual materials:

We ordered topographical USGS maps of Atlantic City, Jersey City, Caldwell, Orange, Camden, Paterson, Cape May, Roselle, Elizabeth, Weehawken, Central Park, Brooklyn, the Narrows, Coney Island, Sandy Hook, and Hoboken.

(I also want to remind you of such popular web sites with satellite images as Google Earth or TerraServer).
